

Turner names 2006 Subcontractors of the year and business partner of the year

INDIANAPOLIS – Turner Construction Company's Indiana office named DELTA Services, Inc., Ryan Fireprotection, Inc. and the team of Kreager Brothers Excavating Incorporated & Corbitt & Sons Construction Co., as their 2006 Subcontractors of the year at a private luncheon held at Ruth's Chris Steak House. Turner also recognized Powers and Sons Construction Company Inc. as their 2006 Business Partner of the Year. The Turner-Powers joint venture team provided project management services for the Indiana State Forensic and Health Sciences Laboratories. Turner's Subcontractor and Business Partner of the Year Awards recognize these firms for excellence in construction.

"We are absolutely thrilled to be recognized as a Turner subcontractor of the year for 2006. I congratulate our team members working on Turner's projects as they have proven once again that we deliver a first-class, high-quality product," said Dan Ryan, president of Ryan Fireprotection.

"Turner recognizes the value and importance of our subcontractors and business partners and we hold this recognition ceremony to pay special tribute to the firms that have done a truly outstanding job. We simply wish to thank them for their exceptional performance and contribution to Turner and the clients we serve together," said Michael J. Kaiman, vice president and general manager of Turner's Indiana office.

The review and final selection of potential candidates is based on the subcontractors' performance in a variety of areas; including preconstruction, managing, engineering, scheduling, expediting, quality of work, safety, relations with others, pricing, cooperation and expertise their particular field.